Section 2. The Legislature finds that it is a public necessity to exempt from public records requirements the home addresses, telephone numbers, dates of birth, and photographs of current or former nonsworn investigative personnel of the Office of Financial Regulation’s Bureau of Financial Investigations whose duties include the investigation of fraud, theft, other related criminal activities, or state regulatory requirement violations; the names, home addresses, telephone numbers, dates of birth, and places of employment of the spouses and children of such personnel; and the names and locations of schools and day care facilities attended by the children of such personnel. The efforts of such personnel can lead to arrests and prosecutions for crimes up to and including first degree felony violations and can also result in the loss of commerce and property, the assessment of monetary fines, or the suspension or loss of professional licenses. The office has documented multiple compelling instances of such personnel being threatened and fearing repercussions as a result of carrying out their duties. These threats have included weapons being brandished, verbal threats made to harm them or their family members, harassment, and intimidation. The Legislature finds that the release of such personal identifying and location information might place these nonsworn investigative personnel of the office and their family members in danger of physical and emotional harm from disgruntled individuals who have contentious reactions to actions taken by such personnel, or whose business or professional practices have come under the scrutiny of such personnel. The Legislature further finds that the harm that may result from the release of such personal identifying and location information outweighs any public benefit that may be derived from the disclosure of the information.

Section 3. This act shall take effect upon becoming a law.

Approved by the Governor June 2, 2017.
